Presidential Ponderings

By Kim Rixen

Let's eat

The driving season in Minnesota is short. Too short. In fact, several years ago, Mother Nature waited until mid-May to decide it finally was time to stop snowing. By April, we're all sick of winter and grumble every time we hear snow is in the forecast. Those of us who don't go south for the winter are especially crabby. We need sun, we need warmth, and we need to drive our sports cars.

But until the city sweeps the streets to get rid of all the salt and chemicals that were deposited over the winter, we have to find other ways to stay entertained. Usually, they involve food.

We go to plays, then we eat.

We make our annual trip to the Walker Art Museum for the British Arrows Awards, then go eat.

We pack food for those in need, then go out to eat.

We invite everyone over on a cold afternoon and we eat.

The Healey Club has a reputation for hosting parties with good food, lots of good food! We've made some mighty fine pizzas at Dave Herreid and Daphne Walmer's cabin in the summer, learned all about southern food at Carl and Betty Stine's summer picnics, handed the tongs to Mike Lynch when he offers to take over the grill, and never left Eileen Wetzel's house hungry.

People are always happy to bring food to parties, too. One of the first British car club events attended was a high tea hosted by an Australian chap and his wife. We were given a stack of recipes to choose from. I picked a chocolate cake recipe. It was chocolate, and it sounded good.

When I looked more closely, I noticed that all the ingredients were measured in milliliters and grams. And what was caster sugar? Could I even buy it here?

Fortunately, I was living next door to a British family. Jacqui helped me figure out what I was doing -- and what I was using (regular sugar). But for all the time and effort, the cake proved disappointing. The consistency was weird, and it didn't taste very good. It's presentation would cost me serious points on the Great British Baking Show.

During our trip to England last September, we toured several of Britain's great houses owned by the National Trust. Their cafes were some of our favorite lunch places. Each one featured a dessert or two from a period significant to the home (the 1920s and World War II, for example). All were wonderful.

When I got home, I opened our copy of the National Trust magazine and found recipes from some of their best-selling bakes. Of course, they were all in metric but at least this time I recognized the ingredients.

They look so good, it might be time to experiment with British recipes again.

Feeling adventurous? Here's a recipe for one of the top sellers:

Fruit scones

Makes 8
Prep 15 minutes
Cook 10–15 minutes

Ingredients
 450g self-raising flour
 115g soft margarine or butter
 85g caster sugar
 85g sultanas
 1 free-range egg, beaten
 200ml milk
 Strawberry jam and clotted cream to serve

Method

1. Preheat the oven to 200°C/400°F/gas mark 6.
2. Add the flour and margarine to a bowl and rub in with fingertips or an electric mixer until the mixture resembles fine crumbs. Stir in the sugar and sultanas.
3. Add the egg and gradually mix in 150ml of the milk to make a soft dough.

4. Knead lightly on a floured surface, then roll out to a generous 2cm thickness, or two fingers. Stamp out circles using a 7cm fluted biscuit cutter and transfer the scones to a lightly oiled baking sheet. Knead the trimmings and continue rolling and stamping until you have made eight scones.
5. Brush the top of the scones with a little of the remaining milk, then bake for 10–15 minutes until well risen and golden brown. Serve warm, split and topped with jam and clotted cream.

Clive's tip
 The great scone debate shows no signs of abating. I prefer jam on top followed by clotted cream (the Cornish way), which is good if your cream is less firm. If the cream is firm, then the Devon way (cream first) works well. They're delicious either way!

Meeting Minutes January 2, 2019

Announcements

Arrow Awards

Thanks to Suzanne Willodson for organizing our excursion to the Arrow Awards, where again for the 4th or 5th year we watched the best of the year's British TV commercials. We laughed; we cried; in a few cases we scratched our heads. Afterwards we celebrated at Brit's Pub—a good way to end the year.

Membership

The deadline for renewing national membership was January 1, but there is usually a grace period if you get in by January 15.

Upcoming Events

On Sunday January 20 the Rixen's are holding a Revive the Revival Party in honor of Goodwood, the British car show they attended last fall. Bring an appetizer, dessert, and/or something to drink. They'll have a main dish. You are invited to wear vintage clothing if you want. Dick Leighninger promises to bring Marmite.

Greg and Nancy Lauser will offer their Chili, Cabbage, and Borscht Buffet on Saturday February 16. RSVP by Feb 13.

Second Harvest Heartland volunteering will be Saturday, February 23 from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m. We promised 25 volunteers. We'll help pack dry goods or vegetables or who knows what. The location has moved from Golden Valley to Brooklyn Park. For more details see the ad in the newsletter or an upcoming email from Dave Lee. After our shift we'll have lunch nearby, perhaps at Granite City.

CONCLAVE 2019

Greg Lauser reported on the status, with additions from Gary Wetzel.

- Currently we have 236 registrations representing at least 440 people, and we're still 9 months out.
- The Mountain Grand, Holiday Inn Express & Suites and Hotel by Gold Dust are all but sold out, with just a few suites still available at the Holiday Inn Express.
- We have added contracts for 20 rooms each at the Lodge at Deadwood and Comfort Inn & Suites, bringing total rooms available to 258. We may be able to secure more rooms at each of those hotels, depending on the pace of future demand by registrants. Those hotels will be publicized in Healey Marque and AHCA news update emails.
- We will decide later whether to seek contracts with other hotels beyond those five, or simply give registrants a list of other lodging nearby, which they can reserve individually.
- Exciting news is that Gary Wetzel learned that Custer State Park charges only $1 per car for groups that make arrangements ahead of time, so we are planning to put one pass in each registration packet. Otherwise, the lowest cost entry fee is $20 for a seven-day pass. Also, having passes will save participants a long wait in line to buy a pass.

Continued...

- We need to decide for what day(s) to purchase those passes in coordination with exactly when events finally end up. It makes sense to have them for participants in the rally or the Moerke's guided tour to Crazy Horse Memorial and Custer State Park. People who do not participate in either of those events also could use them that day. One option is Monday September 9. We discussed asking participants on the website which events they want, as an aid to our planning. June Moerke pointed out that events such as tours usually attract many people.
- We will cover the costs of the following list from three sources: registration fees, regalia sales, and sponsorships.
 - Custer State Park discounts
 - Welcome reception and reception speakers
 - Banquet entertainment
 - Hospitality throughout the week
 - Gymkhana/Funkhana
 - Car Show
 - Ladies Tea speaker
 - City fees for venues needed for the Sunday car show, trailer and car added parking
 - Printing
 - Event memorabilia
 - Signs and banners
 - Other discounts
- So far, registration fees are $30,000 of the $66,000 in revenues billed so far. The rest is pass-through revenue for catering, the ladies tea, the BBQ and dance and Banquet, plus the Rushmore bus tours.
- Regalia promotion starts in March. The Wetzels brought samples dropped off by the Ronning's son for us to view. There is an opportunity for the club to make additional money from Regalia, because we are not required to share sales revenue from regalia with the national club.
- The Car Show has 240 cars registered to date. The current space allows for no more than 140, so we need to negotiate with the city for more space.
- Crazy Horse/Custer State Park Tour: The Moerke's reported the tour will have lunch at Crazy Horse, and then go on to the state park after lunch. They will take a group photo in front of Crazy Horse. Going to Crazy Horse with this tour will cost only $7 per person instead of $12. Currently this tour is scheduled for Monday.
- Gary Wetzel noted that 31 registrants are coming from California and 30 from Minnesota, which includes our 5 from Wisconsin.
- Quite a few USA Club (West Coast) members are coming, including two USA members who write a lot of articles, who planned to come to the Black Hills Conclave even if they had to join the National Club. (For those not in the know, the USA Healey Club is separate from the National Healey Club.)

Sponsorships

Dave Hatzung reported on sponsorships, and Jeff Lumbard talked about contacts he made during his recent trip to England.

- Dave joked that he and Steve agreed to waive their union modeling fee for regalia.
- Greg Lauser noted that sponsorships are another area where our club can make money, although we must share sponsorship revenue with the national club.
- Please contact Dave Hatzung if you have a relationship with a company that might be a potential sponsor. Dave will send an email via Dave Lee with a list of companies.
- Dave Hatzung also wants to add a couple of people to the sponsorship committee. He told a story about when Dave Herreid asked Hatzung to be vice president, so maybe Herreid owes Hatzung a favor.
- Sponsorship committee members are needed to help contact a list of 200-300 potential sponsors.
- Jeff Lumbard made a lot of contacts in England, when he and Betsy attended the Birmingham Lancaster Insurance Company Classic Motor Car Show at the NEC. It boasted lots of English cars, as opposed to the show in Essen, Germany, which was mostly German cars.
- Jeff talked to AH Spares Ltd, A-Head 4 Healeys and Cape International, which are some of the main UK suppliers in the U.S.
- A-Head 4 Healeys: Jeff says they are not as well known in the U.S. because a lot of people go through Autofarm Ltd. in Canada, and then the shipping costs are really big. Jeff's contact, Gary Dexter, knows they lack marketing in the States. Perhaps the rep from Autofarm will come.
- Jeff talked to Steve Norton of Cape International, whom he has purchased parts from in the past. They are trying to get back to being recognized for Healeys.
- Jeff also needs to send an email to Denis Welch, who wasn't at the Birmingham show.
- Jeff also had a conversation with people in the UK Healey Club, which is divided into different regions. Jeff says they have a big system, including lots of Facebook presence, and they would gladly promote our information about the 2019 Conclave.
- Jeff talked to Joe Cox, who is one of the individuals who started HealeySport, the racing division of the UK club, in the late 1980s. Joe was one of the individuals who was instrumental in setting up the 1990 Healey Challenge race organized with Phillip Coombs and Joe Pendergraft from the U.S. Joe Cox has a female acquaintance who went to school in Rapid City, and who knows the area because she comes back every couple of years. Joe is of course good friends with John Chatham, a long-time Big Healey racer. After talking with Joe, he thought of the possibility of coming to Conclave and maybe convincing John Chatham to attend, but that is up in the air right now. Phillip Coombs is planning on attending the Conclave.
- Greg Lauser has already sent information to the UK Healey Club. Gary Wetzel noted that we might get 4-5 people from England who are already interested in coming to the US on vacation. There should 5-7 UK big Healeys planning to race at Road America in the fall right after Conclave, of which 4 are of course the Minnesota Club members.

Reviving the Goodwood Revival at the Rixen House in January

It was a cold, sunny day -- not very British like. No Healeys were in attendance, other than pieces of one in the garage. People brought lots of good sweets and savories--and there was plenty to drink.

Clockwise: Dapper Dan (i.e. Rich Stadther), Gary Oster ready to race, Marmite (a party isn't a party without Marmite), Dick & Sally Leighninger dolled up for show !

Borsch & Chili Buffet, Good Company Warm MAHC Members on Chilly Day

Greg Lauser

Eighteen Minnesota club members traveled over the river (St. Croix) and through the Wisconsin woods on a chilly February 16 to warm themselves with a selection of hearty cabbage borsch (mild), chili verde (medium) or Texas Red chili (spicy) at the Lausers.

Those entrées were complemented by Betty Stine's tasty cast-iron skillet cornbread and other scrumptious appetizers and desserts from each visiting household. Wines and water were on hand along with beverages of choice brought by folks attending.

When everyone had warmed up and refueled, they adjourned to the family room for a Conclave presentation by Gary and Eileen Wetzel and Greg Lauser. The trio reported on progress, planning and the need for every club member who will be at Black Hills Conclave 2019 to help prepare for and host the five-day event this fall in Deadwood. They reported current registration is more than 500 people, which has sold out three of the five hotels that have contracts with Conclave. As registrations continue the next six months, it is likely Deadwood's population will increase by about 50 percent during Conclave.

They requested that members volunteer to assist Dave Hatzung with follow-up contacts and phone calls to secure sponsorships. Dave has sent an initial letter to some 200 potential sponsors whose contributions can help enrich the Conclave experience for all. It's particularly important that members who do (or have done) significant business with potential sponsors get involved in calling them. Jeff Lumbard already has hand-carried sponsorship materials to potential sponsoring firms in the United Kingdom. Please let Dave know if you can make some follow-up contacts. He and the club need fellow members' involved to properly and personally follow-up with as many businesses as possible.

Then it was time for more desserts, beverages and visiting. Those who enjoyed the afternoon at the Lauser home were Dave Herreid, Tom and June Moerke, Geoff and Diane Rossi, Jeff and Karen Sartell, Phil See, Rich and Liz Stadther, Carl and Betty Stine, Clarence and Kate Westberg, Gary and Eileen Wetzel, and Greg and Suzanne Willodson.

Second Harvest Heartland Event

Editor

On Saturday February 23rd, fifteen A-H members gathered at 8:45 am in the Brooklyn Park location to volunteer their time packing food for distribution to food shelves, etc. First we got an introductory class on the Second Harvest programs. Next we were off to the hand washing stations, putting on plastic gloves, and proceeding to the packing area.

Today's task was to package potatoes from a very large container in to five pound bags. Any damaged ones were discarded, and those go to a pig farm. Nothing is wasted ! Some volunteers were picking the potatoes, others were weighing and securing the bags, and the "big guys" were putting eight of those bags in to 40 pound sacks. We were done about 11:00 am and gathered again to review our total for the day.

There were some other groups attending too, besides the AH Club. Totally the entire group bagged 8,673 pounds of potatoes for distribution. Suzanne also presented a check from our club for $300.00 to the organization.

Afterwards, most of the group gathered at Mad Jack's Sports Cafe for lunch. There was great food and service, so all were smiling. We were especially happy when the MAHC picked up the tab for lunch ! T'was a good day ! Special thanks to Suzanne & Greg Willodson for making all the arrangements !
